GENERAL PRINCIPLES

ASSESSING ANTIBIOTICS.

"The degree of anti-microbial activity of a drug must never be the only basis for its use. Its potential for producing untoward effects, the ease and route of its administration, the type of patient to whom it is given, the length of time over which it will be required, as well as its cost, are equally important considerations."

Weinstein, L. (1970) in 'Antimicrobial Therapy' ed. Kagan, B.M. (Saunders) 174

A doctor treats more than an infection. He treats the patient as a whole.

When bodily functions are inadequate, altered or impaired – as in infants, the elderly, and patients with an underlying disease – many practitioners now conclude that the anti-bacterial effectiveness and exemplary tolerance of Ceporex (cephalexin) make it the broad spectrum antibiotic to prescribe first for such patients in need of extra care.

'An Assessment of Antibiotics' is the title of a booklet containing the comparative evidence for Ceporex in the treatment of these patients, as well as full prescribing information. Our Medical Department will be pleased to send you a copy on request.

Ceporex

the extra-care antibiotic.

Ceporex (trade mark) is available as tablets, capsules and syrups in 250mg and 500mg strengths
